SG Good Samaritan Fund

As good Christians, we want to help those in need. Thus, we are expanding our fund to the greater community, not just our parish, as was our goal. Applications are at the office and will be reviewed by the Good Samaritan Committee, who will keep them anonymous. As we anticipate more people in use of funds, we will be putting out the wooden collection box again – at Advent and Lent. Any amount of donations will be greatly appreciated! Thank you!

Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: Moses came down from the Mount Sinai with God's Ten Commandments; Jesus teaches from the mountain by his own authority as Son of God. The eight Beatitudes begin the Sermon on the Mount, the largest segment of Jesus' teaching in Matthew's Gospel, and they are at the heart of Jesus' ministry and preaching. Where the commandments are things to do (or not do), the Beatitudes are largely ways of being. To follow Jesus is about growing into the person that God desires us to be. Rooted in Christ's freedom, we can love others as we are called and created for. With this love at the center, even in mourning and in times of persecution, following Jesus is a source of joy. When we share the good news of Jesus with others, it should be our joy that bears witness to our faith that the kingdom of God is present here and now.

To Experience: As we remember the saints (known and unknown) on this solemnity, we also remember the Second Vatican Council's universal call to holiness. Sainthood is not limited to the greatest, the smartest, and the most perfect. Each of us is invited to follow Jesus in our lives, going wherever he leads us. While the canonized saints are great examples to imitate, the greater calling is to be most authentically ourselves, hearts open to God's love and to others. Anyone who responds to God's invitation for their lives can hope to live with him in heaven.

1. Which saints do you find most relatable? Most inspiring? Most challenging?

See What Love the Father Has Bestowed on Us!

This weekend, we experience a beautiful convergence as we celebrate the Solemnity of All Saints alongside National Vocation Awareness Week. It is a good reminder that holiness is a daily calling. It is received from God and lived out right where we are, with the ultimate hope of joining the saints in praising God without ceasing.

In the second reading, Saint John beautifully highlights the foundation of this call, "See what love the Father has bestowed on us that we may be called the children of God." Salvation and holiness are entirely gifts of God's grace. The saints who went before us simply cooperated with this grace, living their unique vocations to the full.

Today, God's vineyard urgently needs more laborers to build up His kingdom. This mission begins in our homes. We need to talk about faith to our children and grandchildren more, teaching them their identity as beloved children of God. By intentionally sharing our faith, we create a fertile ground where the next generation of priests, religious, and holy families can hear and courageously answer God's call.

Let us look to the saints for inspiration, lean on their intercession, and pray for an abundance of vocations in our Church.

Fr. Josuva

National Vocation Awareness Week, celebrated November 1-7, 2026 is an annual week-long celebration of the Catholic Church in the United States dedicated to promote vocations to the priesthood, diaconate and consecrated life through prayer and education, and to renew our prayers and support for those who are considering one of these particular vocations. (USCCB)

What is a vocation?
A vocation in a religious context is how God calls you to serve Him in the world. A Vocation is a personal invitation from God. God calls you through Baptism and Confirmation to serve Him in a specific way of life. Your vocation is the way God invites you to love and give yourself to others. It is not simply your skills, and expertise, but the giving of your whole self as a path to holiness. You can follow God's call as a single person, married person, ordained priest or a vowed religious. It is important to first determine which way of life God is calling you to.

How do I know what my vocation is?
The best way to learn your vocation is through prayer. Take some time to pray about what God's plan is for your life. You can pray at your parish church, or in private. Be patient with your prayer. Don't look for an earth-shattering message from God such as "This is my plan for you!" God generally does not communicate like that. You can use tools to help you on your journey such as writing in a journal, praying with scripture, speaking with a vocations director, and meeting with a spiritual director.

This process is generally called discernment; it is an opportunity to embrace the grace God gives to us.

Journey to the Heart of Jesus

The joy of stewardship is realizing the privilege of sharing what we have been given with others. So, how do I decide who to bless? Jesus reminds us in Matthew 22:37-40 that loving God with all one's heart, soul and mind is the first and greatest commandment and loving your neighbor as yourself is the second. This guides our financial priorities as well.

For those who would like a Biblical tithe guideline, give 5% to your local church so that it may complete its mission on earth. Your local church is your spiritual home base where life in Christ is introduced, nourished and sustained. We are called to not only keep the lights on for worship but to make it a welcoming place to help our neighbor grow in faith. In conjunction with this we have our diocesan appeals chosen by our bishop and supported by our priest. Consider giving 1% to these far reaching, worthy causes as a part of your planned giving.

Now, as biblical scholars know, a tithe is 10%. So, we have 4% left to disperse in our tithe. This goes to other charities beyond your local church and diocese. The Catholic Church operates hundreds of thousands of hospitals, schools, orphanages and social service centers worldwide. In fact, the Catholic Church in the United States (according to Economist Magazine) spends 170 billion dollars a year on charitable activities and the infrastructure to support them. The Catholic Church is by far the largest Charitable organization in the history of the world! Taking care of the treasures of the Church, the poor, has always been her mission.

That brings us back to the second commandment, which requires us to open our eyes, see the need of our neighbor and respond with love. We cannot truly love God while hating or ignoring our neighbor. Think of the Corporal and Spiritual Works of Mercy. As Mother Teresa would say, "There is Jesus in the distressing disguise of the poor."

Stewardship involves prayer, service, and sharing all working together. So, take this question of whom to bless to prayer, preferably with some quiet time in front of the blessed sacrament, and let God nudge your heart. If possible, consider volunteering for an organization you are thinking about supporting to get to know them better. Finally, when you have done your due diligence contribute on a regular basis becoming a partner in their charitable work. May God bless you with the joy that comes from giving!

All Saints' Day FAQ

What is All Saints' Day? All Saints' Day celebrates the feast or solemnity of all the saints in Heaven, both saints recognized by the Church as holy men and women and those who remain unknown.

Is All Saints' Day a holy day of obligation? Normally, yes, All Saints' Day is a holy day of obligation. Catholics are expected to attend Mass on All Saints' Day. In 2026, since it falls on a Sunday, the obligation to attend Mass is satisfied simply by attending Mass on Saturday evening or Sunday.

What is the difference between All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day? All Saints' Day celebrates the holy men and women in Heaven, those known and unknown by the Church, on November 1, whereas All Souls' Day honors all of the faithful departed on November 2.

What is the liturgical color for All Saints' Day? The Church recognizes white as the liturgical color for All Saints' Day. The color white symbolizes the holiness and purity of the saints in Heaven.
