As good Christians, we want to help those in need. Thus, we are expanding our fund to the greater community, not just our parish, as was our goal. Applications are at the office and will be reviewed by the Good Samaritan Committee, who will keep them anonymous. As we anticipate more people in use of funds, we will be putting out the wooden collection box again – at Advent and Lent. Any amount of donations will be greatly appreciated! Thank you!

Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: As the liturgical year draws to a close, we continue with the last three parables in Matthew's Gospel, today hearing the parable of the ten virgins. At this time, we are also invited to think about our own final encounter with the risen Christ, whether at our death or at the Second Coming and Last Judgment. The parable reminds us of our own personal responsibility in following Christ: either we are prepared or not. As the parable illustrates well, we will not be able to "borrow" holiness from someone else. Jesus' final words of warning tell us that we will not know when we will meet God, and so we must always be vigilant. Even as we keep in mind the infinite mercy of God, we also know that God has given us the free will to reject his offer. If we live well, lamps trimmed, we have no reason to fear a God who loves us and wants to be with us.

To Experience: One's entire life can seem like a long time to "stay awake." Inevitably, there are moments where we slip, fall short, or grow apathetic. Each of these moments presents a new opportunity to be made alive in the joy of Christ. Recommitment to prayer, the sacraments, and sharing faith in community can all help us to come out of any "spiritual grogginess" that we might experience.

1. Do you feel awake or sleepy in your walk with Jesus? Why?
2. What "oil" might you need to be prepared to meet Jesus the bridegroom?

Conversion Requires Our Own Individual Commitment

This weekend's Gospel presents the parable of the ten virgins. We are challenged to consider whether our spiritual lamps are full or running empty as we await the coming of our Lord, who is the bridegroom.

In the parable, five virgins were wise because they brought extra oil, while five were foolish and came unprepared.

In our daily lives, this oil represents the essential practices that sustain our relationship with God, such as daily prayer, regular reception of the Sacraments, and active charity toward our neighbors. Unlike material goods, these spiritual reserves cannot be bought or borrowed at the last minute; they must be cultivated personally over time.

When the bridegroom arrived late, the foolish virgins tried to borrow oil from the wise ones, but there wasn't enough to share.

This teaches us a fundamental spiritual truth: we cannot live off the borrowed faith of others. Our family, friends, or community can support us, but they cannot do the personal work of loving God for us. Holiness and conversion require our own individual commitment and cannot be outsourced.

Fr. Josuva

All Saints' Day and All Souls' Day come right next to each other, November 1 and 2. We honor the saints and the holy souls, but also the everyday loving people now in heaven.

How do I know whether they are in heaven or purgatory? I don't. Only God knows their hearts! Did they have faults, prejudices, blind spots, sins? Sure. That's why they may have stopped in purgatory, the waiting room for heaven. With God's help they were healed and made ready for heaven. We believe in a Father who loves us so dearly that he sent his Son to save us—a Son who died on the cross to give us life—and who told his disciples, "Where I am, I want you to be."

What is heaven like? It's more than we can imagine—beyond our most extravagant hopes. At the heart is God who is total goodness and love. We are face-to-face with God, "abiding" in his love. Heaven gives us the joy of meeting and living with the Virgin Mary, St. Joseph, St. Paul, St. Francis and St. Clare of Assisi, and St. Elizabeth Seton.

"A great crowd of our loved ones awaits us there," St. Cyprian wrote in the third century, "a countless throng of parents, brothers [and sisters] and children longs for us to join them.…What joy both for them and for us to see one another and embrace."

The Catechism of the Catholic Church says, We "pilgrims on earth" can't forget that we are only one part of our extended family. "Others have died and are being purified, while still others are in glory, contemplating 'God himself triune and one, exactly as he is'" (954). Our sisters and brothers who are being purified pray for us and we can help them with our prayers. A family helps each other. We are a communion of saints!

Praying for the Faithful Departed

LaNell Canales, Carol Erb, Thomas Hansen, Gary Hei, Joan Jacquette, Leon Lutzke, Delores Pankratz, Adela Reinboldt, Al Riesterer, Gerry Riesterer, Janice Schad, Heidi Schaller, Jane Schaller, Agnes Scharenbroch, William Schiegg, Tim Schultz, Abbot Nicholas Zachariadis

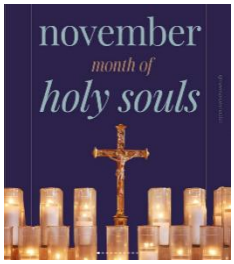
Eternal rest grant unto them, O Lord, and let perpetual light shine upon them.
May the souls of all the faithful departed,
through the mercy of God, rest in peace.



The Tree of Souls: Remembering Our Departed Loved Ones in November

Participating in the Tree of Souls is simple yet meaningful. You can write down the names of those who have passed away – whether family, friends, or others you want to pray for – and place the names on the tree. As you do so, take a moment to pray for them. Your prayers can be short and from the heart. You might say something like:

"Lord, I pray for (name), that you may forgive their sins and grant them eternal rest in Your presence. Amen."

The Tree of Souls reminds us that love never dies, and neither does our connection to those who have gone before us. By praying for them, we help them on their journey to eternal life and keep their memories alive in our hearts.

Lighting the Advent Wreath

Families or individuals are needed to light the Advent Wreath candles each week at Mass, beginning Saturday, November 28.

Consider lighting the candles …
- if the Mass Intention is for your loved one.
- with your children. It's an experience to remember.
- in memory of a loved one who passed away.
- with your spouse as another way to participate in the Mass.
- because you love Jesus!

Call the parish office (HT 773-2380 or SG 773-2511) or sign up at the back of church.

Thank you, veterans,

Journey to the Heart of Jesus

The joy of stewardship is realizing the privilege of sharing what we have been given with others. So, how do I decide who to bless? Jesus reminds us in Matthew 22:37-40 that loving God with all one's heart, soul and mind is the first and greatest commandment and loving your neighbor as yourself is the second. This guides our financial priorities as well.

For those who would like a Biblical tithe guideline, give 5% to your local church so that it may complete its mission on earth. Your local church is your spiritual home base where life in Christ is introduced, nourished and sustained. We are called to not only keep the lights on for worship but to make it a welcoming place to help our neighbor grow in faith. In conjunction with this we have our diocesan appeals chosen by our bishop and supported by our priest. Consider giving 1% to these far reaching, worthy causes as a part of your planned giving.

Now, as biblical scholars know, a tithe is 10%. So, we have 4% left to disperse in our tithe. This goes to other charities beyond your local church and diocese. The Catholic Church operates hundreds of thousands of hospitals, schools, orphanages and social service centers worldwide. In fact, the Catholic Church in the United States (according to Economist Magazine) spends 170 billion dollars a year on charitable activities and the infrastructure to support them. The Catholic Church is by far the largest Charitable organization in the history of the world! Taking care of the treasures of the Church, the poor, has always been her mission.

That brings us back to the second commandment, which requires us to open our eyes, see the need of our neighbor and respond with love. We cannot truly love God while hating or ignoring our neighbor. Think of the Corporal and Spiritual Works of Mercy. As Mother Teresa would say, "There is Jesus in the distressing disguise of the poor."

Stewardship involves prayer, service, and sharing all working together. So, take this question of whom to bless to prayer, preferably with some quiet time in front of the blessed sacrament, and let God nudge your heart. If possible, consider volunteering for an organization you are thinking about supporting to get to know them better. Finally, when you have done your due diligence contribute on a regular basis becoming a partner in their charitable work. May God bless you with the joy that comes from giving!

Sharing Witness Talk

My name is Tom Kopanski. My wife Amy and I have been members of St Gregory since 2019. I am currently a reader and an altar server. I am also on the Parish Finance Council and help two great teams who put on our Annual Golf Outing and Fall Feast fundraisers.

Outside of church, I facilitate a class on Fall Prevention for the ADRC of the Lakeshore. I help when possible at Felician Village, and I delivered Meals on Wheels for a number of years until recently when I got drafted into grandpa babysitting duties.

I grew up in Phelps, WI, went to church every Sunday, was an altar boy and a reader until I left home for college. I went to Marquette University in Milwaukee, was a eucharistic minister at Gesu Parish, and went to Mass regularly.

But after college, things started to change. I started misplacing my priorities and focused on my career and material pursuits over God. My church attendance became sporadic as I was often too “busy” or “tired” to attend Mass.

Fast forward a few years. I met Amy. We got married at St. Gregory and a few years later moved to the Atlanta area and raised two beautiful kids. During those years we did attend Mass. My motivation was mainly for our kids so they could receive their sacraments. For me personally, I was becoming even further distanced from God.

I had a high stress, high anxiety career that I often let take precedence over my focus on God and family. My focus was on the secular world. While I “checked the box” by going to church, I didn’t check the box for actively participating in the Mass.

Fortunately, God is a forgiving God and willing to give us a second chance. We moved back to this area in 2019. We came to St. Gregory because Amy’s family was here. I still wasn’t bought into becoming an active member of our Catholic community nor truly coming to celebrate and feel the joy that being an active participant in Mass could bring.

But for some reason, one day I “volunteered” to help do a thorough church cleaning that Allen Dietrich had organized. During that day, I saw and touched almost every part of this beautiful Church. We used telescopic poles to clean the fans and ceiling, dusted the Stations of the Cross and windowsills, and crawled under every pew, repairing and tightening the kneelers. The guys showed me the bell tower, the rafters, the back rooms, the hidden storage areas, and the basement. I saw it all.

Something happened that day I couldn’t explain at the time. For the first time in a long time, I felt a connection to God. A longing to get closer. I WANTED to be here.

Over these last 7 years, that longing has only gotten stronger. Going to Mass became a joy again and something I wanted to do. From that moment forward I wanted to do more and continue my personal journey to give back what I could to God, my family, our parish and our community.

I never could put into words quite what that joyful feeling is that comes from no longer being a spectator but instead being an active participant in the Mass.

Then one day as part of his sermon, Father talked about the importance of Mass, and he made a simple statement that hit home. He said that coming to Mass is not a spectator sport. We need to actively participate. Because when we truly participate in Mass, it’s like a little bit of Heaven on Earth.

That’s why stewardship is so important. When you give back to God, our community and our church, you not only honor God, but your bonds with God will also strengthen. You will also help strengthen our community.

We ask that you please consider how you can grow closer to God by being a good steward in Christ. Our world needs direction and guidance and a moral compass. We need to help bring people back to God. We need to use our gifts.

Time, Talent, Treasures. While we are all different, we all have these gifts in some shape or form and each of us was given these gifts from God.

Finding where you can help and where you can share those gifts honors God and strengthens all of us.
