Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: This gospel reveals Jesus' human nature in a number of ways. First, he is moved with pity; he has an emotional response to seeing people in need. Next, he seems to realize that he cannot do this work alone; there are too many needs to meet. Even Jesus, the second person of the Trinity, needs to ask for help. This is not a weakness of the human condition, not an effect of sin, but rather a normal part of our healthy functioning. And finally, he gives instructions that we know will be incomplete: at this point he send his disciples only "to the lost sheep of the house of Israel." Jesus allows himself to be limited by the human constraints of time and resources and personnel. The fullness of his mission, where all nations are joined in praise of the one God, will develop over time.

To Experience: This gospel shows Jesus getting organized. While his personal touch is irreplaceable, his ministry will be more effective with delegation and teamwork. There is a model of servant leadership here; good leaders are both willing to do the work themselves and willing to step aside when the situation calls for it.

1. We are all called to be both members of Jesus' flock and, in ways appropriate to our state in life, shepherds of that flock. Which of these calls feels more natural to you? How could the other be an invitation to grow?
2. Do you feel that you share in the disciples' mission as described in the gospel? How do you (or how could you) help in healing and comforting those who are sick?
3. When you are moved with pity for another, how do you respond? How could your response be more like Jesus' response—immediate and loving?

Year of Mary
October 1, 2022 to December 8, 2023

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

There are three movements in today's Gospel. Jesus sees. Jesus summons. And Jesus sends.

Jesus saw the crowds, and his heart was "moved with pity." What does Jesus see when he looks out on our parishes?

This is not a question that can be answered in a few short lines in a bulletin column. But I would say he is first of all grateful for each and every person that shows up for Sunday Eucharist. But looking at the people that do come, I think he sees that they need something more. What is that something more? Does your faith feel routine as if you are going through the motions? Do you want more? For Jesus, the sacraments are not only rituals to be performed, but through these rituals, we should experience a powerful encounter with Jesus himself. For Jesus, the prayers that we say are not just formulae to be recited, but a deep conversation where our heart speaks to his heart, and his heart speaks to ours.

What does Jesus see? He sees people that are faithful to coming to Mass and supporting their parish. Jesus is thankful for this response. But he also sees people that need to go deeper.

Jesus summoned his twelve disciples, and gave them authority. Notice he calls them each by name. The call is personal. Who is Jesus calling? He is calling you. I know what the response can be, "I am already busy. How can I do more?" Remember that before Jesus sent his disciples on mission, he first formed them. He spent time with them, teaching them, speaking with them, drawing them into a deeper relationship with his heavenly Father. Each of us is called to have a personal relationship with Jesus. Many Catholics, even Catholics that faithfully come to Mass, do not feel like they have this relationship with Jesus.

Jesus is calling you. But before he is calling you to do something, he's calling you first of all to spend time with him and to learn from him.

Jesus sends. None of the disciples are called simply for the sake of being called. Each is called to fulfill a mission. So what's our mission? Almost every meeting with the parish council, we are discussing ways to grow the parish. We have to remember that growth happens in two ways. Each year we see trees that grow taller, and bear much fruit. This is visible growth. We do not see the roots are growing deeper. This is invisible growth. A bountiful harvest is a cause for great joy, but this harvest is only possible when the roots are well established.

I believe that before Jesus is calling us to grow our parishes outwardly, we need to first grow inwardly. The call to Christian conversion needs to go to the root of who we are. The roots of the faith need to reach into the depth of our hearts before we can grow outward. So our mission is first of all a challenge to ourselves to deepen our faith.

Eventually, Jesus will send the disciples to all the world, but he begins by sending them not to pagan territories nor Samaritan towns, but first of all to the lost sheep of Israel, that is, to their own people.

Jesus sees you. What does he see? Jesus calls you. What is he calling you to do? Jesus sends you. Where does he want you to grow?

Blessings,
Fr. Bill

Corpus Christi Procession

A Note from the Desk of Fr. Bill

The Eucharistic Procession this past weekend was truly beautiful. I am deeply grateful for everyone who made it possible. Behind the scenes were the many hands to clean and prepare the lanterns and canopy, along with the stational altars. Extra hands were needed to carry the canopy, direct the procession, and ensure the safety of all. Of course music ministry also contributed the talent of their singing. My expectations were truly exceeded when I saw how many people stayed for the procession, and this made all the efforts of so many hands truly worthwhile. My hope is that through these outward acts of Eucharistic piety, our inward love of Jesus in the Eucharist will deepen.

Coping with Grief?

As we push forward through ordinary life, sometimes some of us still struggle with the loss of our love ones. It may be months or even years since your loss. Please know that you are not alone; we are with you. We simply desire to accompany you through all your feelings, special days and experiences yet to come. We invite you to participate with the Coping with Grief group at the St. Thomas the Apostle rectory, behind the church (8100 Brunner Rd, Newton), every first Monday of the month beginning 2pm. There will be no meeting in July, so the next gathering is August 7th. Whether it's your first year or your thirty-first year, all are welcome. Please pray and discern whether or not this is for you at this time.
