Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: After several weeks of affirming the challenges of following him, Jesus offers here a word of consolation. "My yoke is easy, and by burden light: does not sound like it aligns well with all we have been hearing about persecution and suffering. But Jesus is reminding us that even though suffering might be part of the life of his followers, it is not of God and is not God's will for us—it is a side effect of living in a world where sin still has a hold. Following Jesus is in fact a joyful thing; this is the God who loves us desperately and wants nothing but our good. Jesus wants peace for us; he promises peace for us. This peace comes at many different levels: between nations, between individuals, and within our own hearts.

To Experience: There is an invitation in these readings to rest, an invitation our productivity-driven culture doesn't often let us hear clearly. The life of faith often calls us to hard work—to self-gift, to mission, to tireless preaching of the gospel. But God does not expect us to do this all the time. Our creator made us to need rhythms that include times of repose. He even commands us to rest in the Old Testament, carving out one of every seven days as a time to set aside our work.

1. What consolations does Jesus offer you in your Christian journey? What consolations do you wish he would offer?
2. Do you find Jesus' yoke easy and light? What makes it hard to carry sometimes?
3. How do you honor God's invitations—and even commands!—to rest?

Year of Mary
 October 1, 2022 to December 8, 2023

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

In today's Gospel, Jesus offers us these comforting words: "Come to me, all you who labor and are burdened, and I will give you rest" (Matthew 11:28).

Every Catholic priest is required to take a retreat annually.

A retreat is a period of time in which the cares and worries of the world are set aside, so that the person making the retreat can focus on renewing and reviving their life of prayer and personal relationship with Jesus Christ.

My annual spiritual retreat follows a typical pattern. Upon arrival, I unpack, and the first evening I usually sleep really well. The next day, I end up taking a really long nap. After that I am refreshed and attentive for the rest of the retreat.

I don't even realize how tired I have become, until I stop.

Life keeps us busy. So busy in fact that we don't even realize how tired and burdened we have become. When we finally pause, and take some time to rest, all the weariness hits us at once. In the setting of a spiritual retreat, the Lord sees the weariness, and he gives us his rest. He revives us.

While priests are required to take an annual retreat, all Catholics are highly encouraged to take an annual retreat. I know most people would find it hard to find the time to go on a retreat. It is worth the sacrifice and effort to make the arrangements. Unfortunately, it is not possible for everyone.

Even if you cannot go on a retreat, the Lord still wants to give you rest. He does not want you to be weary with labors and carrying burdens.

This is the importance of prayer, especially time for silence and meditative prayer. Time spent before the Eucharistic Lord, whether it is Eucharistic Adoration or simply time spent before the tabernacle, is always refreshing.

I find praying in the morning to be especially refreshing. During the summer, I will sit on the back porch each morning. I will pray the Liturgy of the Hours, but before I pick up my prayer book, I simply sit in the silence of the still morning, recall that I am in the presence of God, and receive the rest that he wishes to offer me.

I highly encourage you to set aside time to be silent and still. The silence helps us to notice the Lord's simple yet powerful presence. The stillness helps us to receive the refreshment he wishes to give to our weary souls.

"Be still and know that I am God" (Psalm 46:10, ESV).

Blessings,
 Fr. Bill

Currently I am reading: Lectio Divina and the practice of Teresian Prayer by Fr. Sam Anthony Morello.

This short booklet of only 28 pages is a beautiful introduction to meditative prayer. If you are looking to deepen your prayer, I would highly recommend this booklet.

St. Kateri Tekakwitha Feast Day: July 14

The blood of martyrs is the seed of saints. Nine years after the Jesuits Isaac Jogues and Jean de Lelande were tomahawked by Iroquois warriors, a baby girl was born near the place of their martyrdom, Auriesville, New York.

Her mother was a Christian Algonquin, taken captive by the Iroquois and given as wife to the chief of the Mohawk clan, the boldest and fiercest of the Five Nations. When she was four, Tekakwitha lost her parents and little brother in a smallpox epidemic that left her disfigured and half blind. She was adopted by an uncle, who succeeded her father as chief. He hated the coming of the Blackrobes—Jesuit missionaries—but could do nothing to them because a peace treaty with the French required their presence in villages with Christian captives. She was moved by the words of three Blackrobes who lodged with her uncle, but fear of him kept her from seeking instruction. Tekakwitha refused to marry a Mohawk brave, and at 19 finally got the courage to take the step of converting. She was baptized with the name Kateri—Catherine—on Easter Sunday. Now she would be treated as a slave. Because she would not work on Sunday, Kateri received no food that day. Her life in grace grew rapidly. She told a missionary that she often meditated on the great dignity of being baptized. She was powerfully moved by God's love for human beings and saw the dignity of each of her people.

She was always in danger, for her conversion and holy life created great opposition. On the advice of a priest, Kateri stole away one night and began a 200-mile walking journey to a Christian Indian village at Sault St. Louis, near Montreal.

For three years she grew in holiness under the direction of a priest and an older Iroquois woman, giving herself totally to God in long hours of prayer, in charity, and in strenuous penance. At 23, Kateri took a vow of virginity, an unprecedented act for an Indian woman whose future depended on being married. She found a place in the woods where she could pray an hour a day—and was accused of meeting a man there!

Her dedication to virginity was instinctive: Kateri did not know about religious life for women until she visited Montreal. Inspired by this, she and two friends wanted to start a community, but the local priest dissuaded her. She humbly accepted an "ordinary" life. She practiced extremely severe fasting as penance for the conversion of her nation. Kateri Tekakwitha died the afternoon before Holy Thursday. Witnesses said that her emaciated face changed color and became like that of a healthy child. The lines of suffering, even the pockmarks, disappeared and the touch of a smile came upon her lips. She was beatified in 1980 and canonized in 2012.
