Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: The farming and harvest imagery of last week continues with this gospel's parables. The perils of farming are still at play; abundant life is a potential outcome, but so too are weeds that threaten to choke out the long anticipated good harvest. God has taken a risk on us, on creating humanity and bestowing us with free will. When young people learn about the Fall, they often ask why God gave us free will at all or why God didn't create the world in such a way that evil would not really be an option. We might not fully understand this mystery, but apparently, God thought it was worth the risk. Like farmers who every year take on unpredictable weather and swarming pests and a myriad of fungal disease, God hopes in us and believes that the fruit we can bear is worth all that can go wrong.

To Experience: We who are adults know that the moral life is not as cut-and-dry as it is in this parable. None of us is fully good or fully evil; judging our hearts is much more complicated than separating us into "children of the kingdom" and "children of the evil one." This is where God's mercy comes in. God knows our hearts deeply and intimately. God knows all of our motivations and our struggles. Still, God is prepared to offer us the utmost generosity in judgment.

1. God cares for us as a farmer cares for the crop. How do you experience God's care in your life? In what ways do you long for God's care?
2. What is the fruit that your life is bearing? What do you have to offer to God at the harvest?
3. How have you experienced God's mercy? Where do you still need it?

Year of Mary
October 1, 2022 to December 8, 2023

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

"Be still and know that I am God." Psalm 46:10

Growth happens in two ways: growth can be quantitative, and it can be qualitative. Quantitative growth is an increase in number, such as fertilizing a tomato plant to increase its yield. Qualitative growth improves the quality, such as pruning a tomato plant, including some of the small green tomatoes, so that the few that are left are better quality.

Prayer is subject to these two types of growth. Often as a Christian's spiritual life awakens and they wish to deepen their life of prayer, they will add more and more prayers. But increasing the minutes of prayer often becomes frustrating because the increased time in prayer does not feel effective or fruitful.

So, for a time, we can set aside the question of how long we should pray. Rather, at the beginning of the spiritual life it is often more beneficial to make a small commitment to daily prayer, such as ten minutes in morning, but focus one's spiritual efforts towards deepening that time of prayer.

In short, at the beginning of the spiritual life, the disciple usually finds greater satisfaction in prayer by focusing on the quality of the prayer rather than the quantity of prayer.

A necessary ingredient of quality prayer is to cultivate an interior stillness or a posture of silence. The tranquility of the soul is necessary for prayer since noise and distractions make it all but impossible to hear the voice of God.

When I was learning to scuba dive, I was amazed at how much was visible in the water all around me. However, one of my scuba classmates had the unfortunate habit of slamming into the beach floor and kicking up a bunch of sentiment. In just a moment, what was once clear water, in which I could see for a great distance, enclosed around me as a cloud of darkness. In his agitation, my classmate would continue to kick his fins. This would keep the sentiment suspended in the water. All that was needed was not more activity, but more stillness.

It is the same way with our souls and listening to the voice of God in our hearts. The noise in the world around us, and the distractions that arise from within our hearts, are like the sentiments kicked up by my friend. They keep us from hearing how God is speaking to us, and seeing where he is trying to lead us. To hear his voice, and to see where he is leading us, we need to cultivate a habit of stillness and silence.

Over the next few weeks, I will share some simple methods for cultivating this silence.

Blessings,
Fr. Bill

Coping with Grief?

As we push forward through ordinary life, sometimes some of us still struggle with the loss of our love ones. It may be months or even years since your loss. Please know that you are not alone; we are with you. We simply desire to accompany you through all your feelings, special days and experiences yet to come. We invite you to participate with the Coping with Grief group at the St. Thomas the Apostle rectory, behind the church (8100 Brunner Rd, Newton), every first Monday of the month beginning 2pm. The next gathering is August 7th. Please pray and discern whether or not this is for you at this time.

Sts. Joachim and Anne Feast Day: July 26

Joachim and Anne were the parents of Jesus' mother, Mary. We don't know many details about their lives because they are never mentioned in the New Testament. Everything we know about them comes down through tradition—the stories people told about them.

We believe that they were respected members of the Jewish community and that they wanted to become parents so much that Joachim went into the desert to fast and pray that God would hear their prayer. It is said that an angel told them that they would soon have a daughter who would become famous throughout the world.

Months later, Mary, our Blessed Mother, was born. Tradition tells us that when Mary was three years old, Anne and Joachim took her to the temple in Jerusalem to consecrate her for special service to the Lord. We call this celebration the "Presentation of the Virgin Mary." It means that Mary was to play an important part in God's loving plan for the world.

We honor Mary's parents, Joachim and Anne, as saints. We celebrate their joint feast day on July 26. Their love for one another and for Mary is an example to us of how God calls us to live. They also remind us to honor our own grandparents and to thank them for the blessings they have passed down to us in love.

The beautiful shrine of Ste. Anne de Beaupre in Quebec, Canada, is devoted to St. Anne, and in the Middle Ages numerous churches, chapels, and confraternities were dedicated to her. There is a church of St. Anne in Jerusalem, and it is believed to be built on the site of the home of Sts. Joachim and Anne when they lived in Jerusalem.

Anne is the patron of grandmothers, among many other things, and Joachim of grandfathers and grandparents.
