Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: Jesus' description of the end times is a scary one, but also one of hope for those who strive to follow him. In its midst is an important reminder to pay attention. It is hard to imagine a scenario in which we would miss the signs Jesus describes—surely we would notice the sun being darkened and the stars falling from the sky. But Jesus' reminder implies that we could miss it. And in our ordinary lives, we often do miss all the manifold and subtle ways Jesus comes to us. Only those who are in the habit of noticing the fig tree will note its clues of an impending change of seasons. Only those who practice cultivating their attention will notice Jesus entering into their lives here and now.

To Experience: In the busyness of our lives on earth, it can feel burdensome to think about the end-times. Who has time for that kind of interruption? We're very often engaged in good work; how can we prepare for this, too? But Jesus gives us an important clue about what is needed to prepare. We need to pay attention, to look for the ways God is already present to us. We can do this in the midst of whatever else it is that occupies our time.

1. How prepared do you feel for Jesus' final coming? What might you need to detach from in order to be more ready to greet him in whatever ways he comes?
2. The liturgical year is nearly at its end; what have been some times of spiritual growth for you this year?
3. These readings speak of the end times and give us a hint of the themes of the upcoming Advent season. How might you begin to prepare for a fruitful Advent?

Source: Living Liturgy 2024, Liturgical Press

As we approach the end of the liturgical year, the Gospel for this Sunday directs our gaze to the ultimate fulfillment of God's promises. Jesus speaks of His glorious return, when the heavens will be shaken, and the Son of Man will come in great power.

This dramatic imagery calls us to reflect on the depth of God's plan - a plan that brings Heaven to earth and ushers in the fullness of God's kingdom.

This Gospel echoes our theme for this season: Heaven coming down. The promise of Emmanuel - God with us - is not just about Christ's birth at Christmas but also about His promised return.

The prophets awaited the Messiah with longing - The Root of Jesse (Isaiah 11:1), The Suffering Servant (Isaiah 53), The Prince of Peace (Isaiah 9:6), The Shepherd of the Flock (Ezekiel 34:23), The Sun of Righteousness (Psalm 118:22), The New Covenant (Jeremiah 31:31-34) and The King Riding on a Donkey (Zechariah 9:9) - and as we near Advent, we too are called to prepare our hearts, not only for the celebration of Christ's first coming but for His return.

Each Christmas, we are reminded that God's love has already reached into our world through Jesus, yet we also look forward to the day when Heaven's fullness will break into our lives completely.

In these days, let us live with a heightened sense of anticipation. Let the message of this Gospel, with its call to stay vigilant, help us recognize that God is already with us in the quiet moments and that Christ's return will complete the promise begun in Bethlehem.

May we, with hearts open, prepare ourselves to receive God's greatest gift - Emmanuel - and rejoice in knowing that Heaven is indeed drawing closer every day.

*In Christ's Love,
Father Joshua*

The Tree of Souls: Remembering Our Departed Loved Ones

November is a time in the Church dedicated to praying for the souls of those who departed from this life. To help us remember our loved ones, we introduce the Tree of Souls – a beautiful symbol where we hang the names of family members, friends, and all those who have gone before us.

As we write the names of our loved ones and place them on the tree, we are reminded of their lives and the impact they had on us. This simple act of placing their names on the tree becomes a form of prayer, lifting their souls up to God. Participating in the tree of souls is simple yet meaningful. You can write down the names of those who have passed away – whether family, friends, or others you want to pray for – and place the names on the tree. As you do so, take a moment to pray for them. Your prayers can be short and from the heart. By praying for them, we help them on their journey to eternal life and keep their memory alive in our hearts.
