Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: This can feel like an odd feast; we raise up and exalt an instrument of torture, the means of our Savior's death. But it is not about the cross itself; it is about the whole story, the love story of God never giving up on humanity. God's love is self-emptying and life-giving; God enters into human life, enduring even suffering and death, in order to unite us with God. The love is the thing that makes the cross beautiful. It transforms it from a death-dealing device to a sign of hope. If God can make this transformation happen, truly anything is possible for God.

To Experience: Crucifixes are such a common sight in Catholic spaces that we sometimes forget what a powerful symbol they are. Others see it as odd that we so lovingly commemorate the moment of Christ's death. Our love for the cross, though, is not about the cross itself. It is about the transformative love of God who turned the cross into a means of salvation. We pray that God will enact that same transformative power in all our lives.

1. What emotional reaction do you have to the crucifixion story? It might range from horror at Jesus' suffering to sorrow for your own sins to home in the transformation Jesus offers. None of these is wrong, and we might cycle through them as we move through our journey with Christ.
2. How has God's love been transformative in your life?
3. How can you participate in the self-emptying, life-giving love that Jesus models for us on the cross?

The Adorable Holy Cross

This week we celebrate the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross. We know that the Cross is the signs of victory, hope, and redemption. Realizing these truths, we are called to adore the Holy Cross every day, not only on Good Friday. For it was through the Cross that Jesus disarmed the power of evil and brought freedom and eternal life to us.

When we gaze upon the Cross, what thoughts arise in our hearts? Each time I look at the Cross, I am reminded of Jesus' sufferings, his sacrifices, his total self-offering, his obedience to the Father. The Cross invites me to meditate deeply, to worship Christ, and through Him to recognize the glory of God the Father. It stirs me to adore the mystery of the Cross with renewed faith and devotion.

This feast beautifully connects with the readings of the day. In the desert, the bronze serpent which was lifted by Moses became a sign of healing for those who looked upon it with faith (Number 21:4-9). In the Gospel (John 3:13-17), Jesus himself explains that just as the serpent was lifted up in the desert, so must the Son of Man be lifted up, that all who believe in Him may have eternal life. And St. Paul in his letter to the Philippians (2:6-11), reminds us that because Christ humbled himself to death on a Cross, God exalted Him above every name.

The Cross, then, is not the end of the story. It is the throne of glory where love conquered sin and death. Each time we make the Sign of the Cross or kneel before it, we proclaim our faith that Christ is victorious and alive. To adore the Cross is to accept its meaning in our own lives – to walk the path of humility, to carry our daily burdens with love, and to trust that through the Cross, we too will share in the glory of the Resurrection.

As we lift high the Cross spiritually this weekend, may we always see in it not defeat but victory, not sorrow but hope, not death but eternal life. Let the Holy Cross of Jesus be our strength in trials, our comfort in suffering, and our guide on the way to heaven.

God's Blessings!

SG one by One Campaign Funds Recommendation

SG Finance Council has made a recommendation to redirect the balance of funds from the one by One Campaign (after the cost of the narthex) toward building and maintenance needs of the parish. A portion of these funds would be applied toward the cost of the new church sound system, minimizing the monies pulled out of other parish accounts. Any funds that may remain from the campaign after paying for the narthex and sound system would be applied toward future building and maintenance needs.

We want to be transparent with everything we do with the one by One Campaign funds. If you would like to have further discussion about this recommendation, please contact Fr. Josuva (920-200-6029), Tom Kopanski, Finance Council Chair (770-878-2070) or Jean Blattner, Pastoral Council Chair (920-287-5542) before September 30, 2025.

God shines through your ministry!
Thank you!
