Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: This new liturgical season begins with a dramatic flair. The tone of this Sunday's readings ranges from celebratory – the Lord's day is coming! Let us go to the house of the Lord! – to strikingly hortatory – put on the armor of light! Be ready! The scripture texts this week are drenched with vivid imagery, from beating swords to the snatching of men and women from their labors. In proclaiming these readings, we ought to consider both the grand context of these words and the even greater reality to which these words are directing us. The immanent coming of Christ at Christmas ushers in a new age of the Messiah, as the dawn from on high breaks upon a world sorely in need of Christ's peace. Our manner of speaking must boldly guide the congregation into this impending reality, proclaiming that the kingdom of God is truly at hand, and that we must act accordingly.

To Experience: Sometimes, we might feel like we can push off the demands of following Jesus: "I'll be a 'good Christian' later, I've got plenty of time." Jesus invites us to break out of our usual patterns so that we can be more intentional about our relationships with God and others. What brings you joy? What brings you peace? What holds you back? What gets in the way of accepting God's love? What do you need to change, or do differently? If we renew our attention to the words of Jesus this season, even with some initial apprehension, God might just have something new and life-giving to offer us.

1. Isaiah and the psalmist speak of a joyful journey to God's presence. Where can you look for joy in our shared Advent journey?
2. Paul urges us to "throw off the works of darkness and put on the armor of light." Where is there darkness in your own life right now? Where are you in need of God's light?

Stay Awake! A Call to Advent Readiness

Welcome, everyone, to a new liturgical year and the start of the holy season of Advent!

The Gospel reading of this weekend in Advent gives us a stark and urgent message to begin this season: "Therefore, stay awake! For you do not know on which day your Lord will come."

Jesus tells a story comparing His return to the time of Noah. In Noah's day, people were going about their normal lives—eating, drinking, marrying—unaware of the impending flood until it was too late. The point is not that these everyday activities are bad, but that people were completely unaware of God's timing and unprepared for His intervention. They were spiritually asleep.

Jesus' message is clear: the Son of Man will come at an unexpected hour, like a thief in the night. The "stay awake" command is a call to spiritual alertness and constant readiness, not a license for frantic speculation about the exact date of the world's end.

So, what does it mean to "stay awake" in our busy, modern lives?

1. Live Purposefully: Staying awake means living each day with intentionality, as if it could be the day the Lord returns. It's about prioritizing what truly matters: faith, family, love, and service.
2. Be Aware of God's Presence: Jesus is always present in our daily lives, in the people we meet, and in the ordinary moments of our day. Staying awake means opening our eyes and hearts to recognize His face and His hand in the everyday, often "unrehearsed" moments of our existence.
3. Act Justly and Love Mercy: The parables that follow this passage in Matthew emphasize that true watchfulness involves faithful service. We stay awake by actively caring for the hungry, the sick, the stranger, and the imprisoned. Advent calls us to be God's "living candles" in the world, illuminating the path for others through our good deeds and prayer.

This Advent, let's resist the cultural push to jump straight to Christmas commercialism. Instead, let's use this sacred time to pause, pray, and examine our hearts. Let's ensure we aren't so distracted by the "eating and drinking" of the holiday season that we miss the Lord's quiet, unexpected arrival.

Let us ask the Lord to help us plan well and stay active for Him, so that when He comes, He finds us "so doing"—working, watching, and living in His love.

Come, Lord Jesus, Come!
Father Josuva

ST. GREGORY PARISH,
ST. NAZIANZ
