Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: "God has a plan!" More often than not, these words are said to us when we have been handed a large disappointment. In these cases, we're stuck wondering whether our dreams for ourselves were really contrary to God's larger plan, or perhaps whether God even does have something in mind for us. In the Scriptures this week, the central proclamation of the prophet Isaiah, the apostle Paul, and the angel (and even the evangelist Matthew) is that God indeed does have a plan, for us and for our salvation. In this iteration of "God has a plan," it is because God has already done something good, that God has indeed been working on our behalf since time began. The lector is privileged to proclaim this same good news from the ambo, sharing God's great message of hope today. God's inbreaking into history will be celebrated in less than one week!

To Experience: If we believe in a God who is active in the world around us, then we ought to look for signs of the activity. We might not see an angel as Joseph did, but we might be able to recognize God's loving presence in the unexpected kindness of a stranger, the beauty of a sunrise that seems crafted just for us, a feeling of consolation in a difficult challenge, and in a myriad of other places. All things can point to the presence of the God who created them.

1. In this week's gospel reading, Joseph has an experience from God that changes his life's trajectory, telling him to take Mary into his home rather than divorcing her. Where in your life have you recognized God's guidance, whether gentle or firm?

YOU ARE CALLED

In this Fourth Week of Advent St. Paul, in his Letter to the Romans, tells us that he is a slave of Christ, called to be an Apostle. It is worth noting here that a slave is one who does his Master's will, not his own. The word Apostle means to be sent. So, St. Paul is telling us he has been sent out to do his Master's will, his master, of course, being Jesus the Christ. For St. Paul, this meant that he was to travel the known world, preach to great crowds, and to meet with individual groups of Christians to instruct and guide them.

You too are called to be apostles so to speak, by going out and making disciples of all nations. Does this mean that everyone is to stand on street corners preaching the gospel, or knocking on doors? No, the laity is called through Baptism and the other Sacraments to be a slave of Christ; to do the will of Christ. It is through the Church that we are called to help spread the Gospel and make disciples for Jesus.

So, how is this supposed to be done? It starts with prayer, not just private prayer but with the public prayer of the Mass. Jesus called us to pray in community as well as privately. It's at Mass where we receive Jesus in his Word and physically in His Body. The Eucharist is food for us to go out and do Christ's mission. Nowhere else will you get this than in community at the Mass. We are also called to participate publicly at devotions in the Church. There is great power in community prayer.

Secondly, we have to serve others out of love for Christ, especially the stranger. We are to feed the hungry, give drink to the thirsty, clothe the naked, house the homeless, visit the sick and imprisoned, and bury the dead. These are merciful acts that may take us outside the parish walls and out into the greater mission field. When the opportunity presents itself, how do we react?

Thirdly, let us talk about tithing to the Church. We cannot go out and serve everyone personally, no one can. But there are opportunities for tithing so others can go and reach those in need in the name of Jesus. The Bishop's Appeal is the major fund to reach out to those in our diocese. Through donations on Missionary Sunday and to Catholic Relief, you are helping to bring the Gospel to those in the greater world. Maybe you also will see in the upcoming year opportunities in your parish to help those in need.

These are things that allow you to spread the Gospel and make Disciples of all nations for Christ. St. Paul and the Apostles didn't do it all by themselves. We are the Church. We are willing slaves of our Master, Jesus the Christ.

Viva Cristo Rey!
Deacon Gary

The Story of the Nativity of the Lord

On this day, the Church focuses especially on the newborn Child, God become human, who embodies for us all the hope and peace we seek. We need no other special saint today to lead us to Christ in the manger, although his mother Mary and Joseph, caring for his foster-son, help round out the scene.

But if we were to select a patron for today, perhaps it might be appropriate for us to imagine an anonymous shepherd, summoned to the birthplace by a wondrous and even disturbing vision in the night, a summons from an angelic choir, promising peace and goodwill. A shepherd willing to seek out something that might just be too unbelievable to chase after, and yet compelling enough to leave behind the flocks in the field and search for a mystery.

On the day of the Lord's birth, let's let an unnamed, "non-celebrity" at the edge of the crowd model for us the way to discover Christ in our own hearts—somewhere between skepticism and wonder, between mystery and faith. And like Mary and the shepherds, let's treasure that discovery in our hearts.

Reflection

The precise dating in the Scripture readings for today sounds like a textbook on creationism. If we focus on the time frame, however, we miss the point. It lays out the story of a love affair: creation, the deliverance of the Hebrews from slavery in Egypt, the rise of Israel under David. It climaxes with the birth of Jesus. Some scholars insist that from the beginning God intended to enter the world as one of us, the beloved people. Praise God!

12 (+ 1) Ways to Celebrate Christmas as a Catholic

Christmas is more than a single day—it's a season of joy that begins on December 25 and continues through the days to follow.

Within the Church, it's a season that spans the 12 Days of Christmas, culminating in the Feast of the Epiphany. The Christmas season celebrates the birth of Christ and the anticipation of his second coming, inviting us to embrace its message of hope, peace, and love. These days are a meaningful time to celebrate, offering a unique opportunity to embrace the joy of Christ's birth each day.

Here are 12 thoughtful ideas to celebrate Christmas as a Catholic during this sacred time:

1. Attend Christmas Day Mass

Begin the season by attending Mass and dressing up to honor this Holy Day of Obligation and the birth of Christ. After Mass, gather family and friends to put on a Nativity play, bringing the Christmas story to life in a fun, meaningful way.

2. Participate in the Feast of the Seven Fishes

Celebrate Christmas Eve with this Italian tradition, enjoying a seafood feast to commemorate the birth of Christ at midnight.

3. Bless Your Home for the New Year

As you approach the New Year, invite a priest to bless your home, asking for God's protection and guidance in the coming year.

4. Celebrate the Christmas Octave

The Christmas Octave extends the celebration from December 25 to January 1, with feasts on each day. Celebrate by hosting dinner at different homes each night or have themed meals based on each feast day.

5. Celebrate Boxing Day on December 26

Use the Feast of St. Stephen, the first martyr, as an opportunity for acts of generosity. Like St. Wenceslas, who gave to those in need, you can deliver baked goods to neighbors or package up donations for those in need.

6. Bless Wine on the Feast of St. John, on December 27

On the Feast of St. John the Evangelist, who survived drinking poisoned wine, Gather with friends and family to enjoy a meal, share stories, and toast to St. John's feast day.

7. Bless Your Children on the Feast of the Holy Innocents on December 28

Mark the Feast of the Holy Innocents by blessing your children with holy water, remembering the young children of Bethlehem persecuted by King Herod, and praying for all children.

8. Celebrate the Feast of the Holy Family on the Sunday after Christmas

Spend quality time as a family with a simple walk or shared meal, reflecting on the Holy Family's example and what it means to be a Catholic family.

9. Offer a Rosary on the Solemnity of Mary, Mother of God, on January 1

Celebrate Christmas as a Catholic by honoring the Solemnity of Mary. Pray the rosary, dedicate the new year to the protection of Our Lady, or bring roses to place at her statue at Mass.

10. Feast of the Most Holy Name of Jesus, on January 3

Reflect on the power of Jesus' name in prayer, perhaps creating a prayer card with personal or family intentions.

11. The Solemnity of the Epiphany of the Lord, on January 4

Mark the Feast of the Epiphany by blessing your home with chalk. Write the initials of the Magi (C+M+B) above the door, symbolizing Christ's blessing over your household. Celebrate the visit of the Wise Men by exchanging small gifts and hosting a potluck dinner with friends to mark the close of the Christmas season.

12. The Baptism of the Lord, on the Sunday after the Epiphany (January 11)

End the season by reflecting on Jesus' baptism and renewing your own baptismal promises.

13. Pray the Rosary all season, especially reflecting on the Joyful Mysteries

One of the best ways to honor the Christmas season is by living out the beginning of Jesus' life. Connect with his mother Mary through the Rosary and see his life through her eyes.

Embracing the Christmas season reminds us of the joy beyond the festivities, letting Christ's presence shine through our everyday actions. Happy Advent and Merry Christmas!
