Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: Using some of the same vineyard imagery as last week, Jesus shares similar warnings to a different audience. While the focus of last week's gospel reading is primarily the generosity of God, it is also about the response to God's action, particularly among those who have done "what they were supposed to." Chief among these are the temple authorities, who at least exteriorly model what it looks like to follow God's law. In last week's gospel, the earliest-hired workers in the parable complain that the landowners pay them the usual wage they agree to. This week, the second son says yes to his father initially, but in the end, does not do what is asked. The temple elders have largely ignored John's and Jesus' call for repentance, while those considered "public sinners" have responded generously, recognizing their own need for God's forgiveness. As Jesus said in last week's gospel reading, the last will be first and the first will be last – not because those first were not invited, but because they have refused the offer of grace.

To Experience: At times, we praise God in our words, but lack love in our actions. At others, we begrudgingly do "the right thing," cursing God all the while. Growing in holiness takes time and effort and openness to God's grace. We do not always like what the journey to sainthood demands of us, and sometimes we choose another path. Regardless what we have said and done previously, every moment is an opportunity to follow God anew. Thanks be to God for second (and third) chances!

1. In the first reading from Ezekiel, God's justice and mercy go hand in hand; those who turn away from evil are forgiven. How do you try to hold justice and mercy together in your relationship with others? Where do you find this difficult?

Hear to Serve …

A Lava Lamp on the Altar?

From time to time, questions arise about why we do certain things during Mass. Well, the Holy Mother Church has a rule book, a guidebook if you will, on how things should be done. It tells us how many readings there are, where they are to be read from, who can carry in the Book of Gospels during the procession, and where it should be placed. It also tells us which vestments the priest and deacon wear, the prayers that the priest recites, and so on. This book is called the General Instruction of the Roman Missal (GIRM).

Some people may think this is just the Church making more rules, but there is a very good reason for the GIRM. The GIRM ensures that the true meaning of Mass is not lost and convoluted through people's opinions, personal preferences, or cultural norms.

A good example of this is where we place our reverence, to the Tabernacle or the Altar? Before Mass when we come into the nave, we genuflect to the Tabernacle before entering our pew. The Tabernacle is the place where our Lord Jesus the Christ rests, Body, Blood, Soul and Divinity. This is why the priest and deacon genuflect to the Tabernacle during the procession and once again at the recessional.

Once Mass begins, upon entering the Sanctuary, the priest and deacon reverence the Altar by bowing and kissing the Altar. Anytime someone passes the Altar during Mass, they should bow to it. The reason we reverence the Altar during Mass is because we are celebrating the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass, on the Lord's Table. The Altar is where the miracle happens. The Altar is the center of the Sacrifice of Christ, and the center of thanksgiving that is accomplished through the Eucharist.

The GIRM also guides other actions. When we pray the Creed at Mass, we are supposed to bow our heads at the words "...and by the Holy Spirit was incarnate of the Virgin Mary and became Man." We bow our head in honor of the great Mystery of the Incarnation.

Another action that is guided by the GIRM is the posture of praying with hands extended. This is considered a "Priestly posture at Mass." It's not for a deacon or anyone else to do at Mass because it is the priest who, by his ordination, acts in persona Christi. The deacon and the laity are to fold our hands during the Our Father and during all other prayers of the Mass.

So, if you have ever wondered why we do what we do or where our gestures at Mass come from, now you know. Remember, the General Instruction of the Roman Missal is there to keep us focused on the true nature of why we are there, and to keep our personal beliefs and preferences out of the Mass so, that no matter where we attend Mass in the world, we know what is going on and we can respond properly and reverently. Because you know that somewhere, there would be someone who would think it's a great idea to have lava lamps on the Altar.

Viva Cristo Rey,
Dcn. Gary

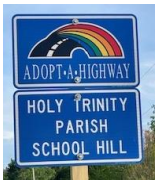
October 3rd Bake Sale

Caring Hearts and Hands will be having a bake sale during the Craft Fair on Saturday, October 3. Anyone willing to bring bakery can drop it off at St. Gregory Community Center Cafeteria Friday, October 2 between 5pm-7pm or Saturday, October 3 between 7am-9am.

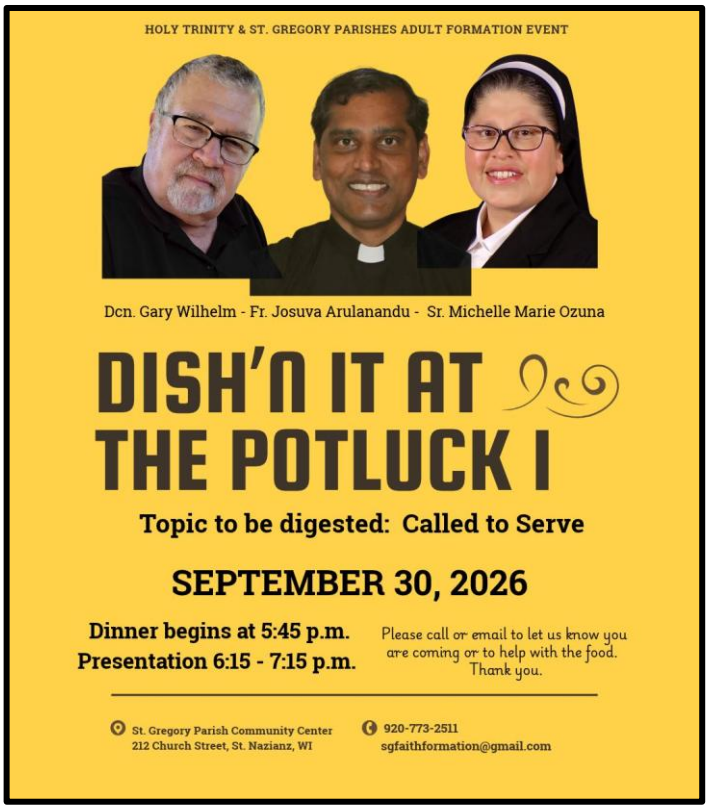
Consider handcrafting something for our "Parishioner Donations" booth. We are looking for newly handcrafted items that would sell for $20 or less and can be any sort of craft: wood, pottery, leather, greeting cards, fresh floral arrangements, etc. It will showcase the many talents in this parish!

All donations should be dropped off at the SG Parish Office by October 1. Thank you for sharing your talents with the Parish and please contact Amy Faucett or Liz Kenneke with any questions you may have.



Adopt-a-Highway Sign-up

Holy Trinity Parish recently joined the Adopt-a-Highway Program for Manitowoc County. The roadway our parish is responsible for is Highway A, between Hwy X and XX. The next scheduled garbage pick-up will be on Saturday, October 3rd at 9am. If you're interested in helping out, a sign-up sheet is located at the back of church with more details.



Journey to the Heart of Jesus

The past three months have focused on Service: the 'action' of stewardship, using skills, talents, and time to help meet needs.

September – November introduces the third component of stewardship, Sharing. Sharing is giving of our resources for the benefit of the community. Sharing is an act of generosity. It may be to work toward equality or uphold personal dignity of others.

How can we share what we have? Throughout the next several weeks, you'll see and hear messages of Sharing. They will be about weekly collections, but they will also be so much more. Sharing will include impacting local charities, national organizations and even world-wide groups. It is sharing today and planning for the future.

* If you have not turned in a service commitment form, it's not too late. Additional forms are at the back of church and the office. Drop the form off at the parish office or place it in the collection basket. Thank you and God bless!*

Religious Education 2026-2027

Two weeks ago, we began the new year by coming together to celebrate Mass. Last week all classes participated in the Diocesan required Safe Environment lessons.

Classes this week began studying their grade-level curriculum. A walk through the halls on any given class night will expose the sounds of catechists' instructions, classroom discussions, music, engagement in activities or projects, an occasional video, and student conversations. The voices heard may be confident or hesitant, serious or light-hearted. Sometimes it's a roar of laughter that is carrying into the hall.

Teaching and learning happen in many ways. Whatever the style may be, we are so blessed by our wonderful catechists sharing their gifts, and all the families who choose to be part of our program, passing along the Catholic faith to their children.

Welcome to the newest members of our parish families!
We are blessed to have you with us!
