Thoughts for Today's Readings

To the Point: The allegory in today's gospel reading is a bit dark and quite on the nose. Using the same vineyard imagery that we have been hearing for the past several weeks, Jesus tells the story of Israel and the prophets that God has sent, each meeting the same fate – rejection by the people. Finally, God sends his own Son, but he is treated much the same. In the parable, the workers find even more reason to kill the landowner's son – there is an inheritance to claim. The heavenly landowner does indeed offer an inheritance: eternal life. But in our rejection of the Son he sends, by our own anxious search for control, we reject that inheritance God so freely offers. However, through and in spite of our own rejection of God's anointed is the fullness of God's love revealed in his death and resurrection. Christ becomes the cornerstone in fulfillment of Psalm 118, offering each of us a share of the vineyard, along with the instruction to bear fruit.

To Experience: In the second reading, Paul encourages us to spend our time on the things that are worthy of it – in other words, the good, the true, and the beautiful. This contrasts with many of our chosen uses of time: the flashy emptiness of social media, the bitterness of jealousy and gossip, the excesses of consumerism, and all the other ways in which we settle for lesser goods. Paul's invitation is a reminder that God is the ultimate source of all good things. If we strive for them, we shall certainly find their Author.

1. In the second reading, Paul encourages us to strive for the honorable, the just, and the pure, among other "worthy" things. What distractions draw you away from the good that God desires for you?

What Kind of Harvest!

In today's Gospel, Jesus shares the Parable of the Wicked Tenants to challenge our faithfulness.

God has beautifully planted and nurtured His vineyard, which represents our world, our Church, and our very lives. As tenants of this sacred space, we are entrusted to care for it and yield a harvest of righteousness. Tragically, the tenants in the parable reject the landowner's servants and ultimately murder his beloved son.

This narrative directly explains how humanity has historically rejected God's prophets and crucified Jesus Christ.

Despite our repeated failures, the parable highlights the staggering patience, generosity, and mercy of God. However, it also serves as a sobering reminder that our privileges as believers carry serious responsibilities.

Jesus warns that the kingdom of God will be taken from those who produce nothing and given to those who will bear good fruit. Every day, we are faced with the choice to either produce sour grapes of judgment and division or sweet fruits of love and service.

True discipleship requires us to look honestly at our lives and ask what kind of harvest we are offering back to the Lord.

Fr. Josuva

Month of the Rosary

The month of October each year is dedicated to the Most Holy Rosary. This is primarily due to the fact that the liturgical feast of Our Lady of the Rosary is celebrated annually on October 7. It was instituted to honor the Blessed Virgin Mary in gratitude for the protection that she gives the Church in answer to the praying of the Rosary by the faithful.

The Rosary is appealing and simple. The purpose of the Rosary is to help us meditate on the great mysteries of our salvation. Every time we pray the Our Father we are reminded that Jesus' Father is the initiator of salvation. Praying the Hail Mary reminds us that we are joining with Mary in contemplating these mysteries. In addition, they help to make us aware that Mary was and is still intimately joined with her son, Jesus, in all the mysteries of earthly and heavenly existence. The constant repetition of prayer creates an atmosphere of contemplation.

The traditional fifteen Mysteries of the Rosary were finalized by the sixteenth century. The mysteries are grouped into sets: the Joyful Mysteries, the Sorrowful Mysteries, the Glorious Mysteries, and, in 2002, Pope John Paul II announced the new Luminous Mysteries.

Journey to the Heart of Jesus

"Where your treasure is there will your heart be also."
Matthew 6:21

We know that stewardship means taking care of what we have been given by God. But what exactly are we to be good stewards of? In short, everything!

So not just prayer and service but also a share of our finances. What?! God doesn't want my money, does he? Much more than money, God wants your heart. And if we are trusting in God, we won't be afraid to prayerfully discern what giving generously means for us.

Giving is a symbol of our total commitment to Christ. We give back to God in thanksgiving and gratitude for all that he has given us. Consider the church building where you worship. Years ago, the faith of those who came before you inspired members to build and maintain the church and provide for the spiritual welfare of its members. We reap the fruits of their devotion to God.

Our stewardship of this gift is obvious, isn't it? We must provide for its future members by continuing the legacy we have so generously been given. Although we may never meet these benefactors, we are called to be part of the future of the church. In this way, they will know our hearts were with Christ.

Religious Education 2026-2027

Theme: Sacred Heart of Jesus

The Sacred Heart is the ultimate symbol of Christ's love – both human and divine, wounded and merciful, passionate and compassionate. Catholics venerate the Sacred Heart to:

- † Acknowledge Jesus' immense love and suffering for humanity's salvation.
- † Offer love, trust, and reparation in return for his mercy.
- † Unite themselves with Christ's mission of redemption and mercy.
- † Find spiritual comfort and strength in times of trial and suffering.

This devotion invites believers to enter into a deeper relationship with Jesus, recognizing his heart as the source of all grace.
